New UK PM creates 'Mission Delivery Boards' for new Cabinet

Starmer intends to meet the targets set for new Labour Party govt, including fixing a 'broken' National Health Service

PTI, LONDON: British Prime Minister Keir Starmer on Saturday presided over his first Cabinet meeting and created 'Mission Delivery Boards' for his ministers, including British Indian Culture Secretary Lisa Nandy, to drive through the "change" he said the public had voted for in the general election.

CONTROVERSIAL RWANDA DEPORTATION PLAN IS 'DEAD AND BURIED': STARMER

AP, LONDON: British Prime Minister Keir Starmer said that he is scrapping a controversial Conservative policy to deport asylum-seekers to Rwanda. "The Rwanda scheme was dead and buried before it started," Starmer said in his first news conference. "It's never acted as a deterrent. Almost the opposite." The move was one of Starmer's first acts in office, though it was widely expected. He had said during his campaign that he would ditch the plan that has cost hundreds of millions of dollars, but never taken flight.

Starmer made the announcement after holding his first Cabinet meeting at 10 Downing St., the day after his Labour Party's landslide victory overturned 14 years of Conservative rule. The Rwanda plan was one of the showcase policies of former Conservative Prime Minister Rishi Sunak to try to curb migrants from making dangerous English Channel crossings. But it was beset with challenges over human rights issues and never managed to deport a single person despite spending hundreds of millions of dollars in a pact with the east African nation.

PANJIM: The defeat of Portugal by France in the quarter finals of the Euro 24 has resulted in a pall of gloom settling over fans of the team. The feeling was that the team members played well, but were unable to convert the chances that came their way.

I felt they should have substituted Ronaldo. He was a misfit in the team. He did not have a single shot at goal. He did nothing of worth in the match. A good team that did not make it work on the day it mattered

Curchorem CHC is like 'Swiggy' delivering patients to SGDH, GMC: CCMC councillor Hodarkar

The Centre lacks gynaecologist, orthopaedist, paediatrician and diabetologist

Team Herald

CURCHOREM: The Curchorem Community Health Centre (CHC) is sick and in dire straits. The ambulance service at the hospital is like Swiggy, delivering patients to SGDH or GMC, since there are no doctors in certain specialisations. The CHC does not have a gynaecologist and orthopaedist; hence patients are forced to be transported to South Goa District Hospital and GMC. Also there is no paediatrician and diabetologist.

The CHC was inaugurated hurriedly a little over six months ago after people took out a morcha, demanding the hospital be opened at the earliest. But now social workers and Congressmen who visited the CHC on Saturday and met the Health Officer Dr Megha Kudcharkar said, "There is leakage everywhere including the ceiling. The window panes are broken."

LACK OF BASIC FACILITIES

» The CHC was opened hurriedly a little over 6 months ago following a morcha by the people

» There is leakage everywhere including the ceiling and window panes are broken too

» No canteen to supply food to the patients and their relatives

» The ambulance

driver operates like Swiggy or Amazon distributor

» They register the patient, take him/her on transit to SGDH or GMC

» Specialists, who can reach out to patients in emergencies, are not available

» The CHC lacks cardio-ambulance
