Simultaneous poll is 'unconstitutional',
TN CM Stalin flays Centre

PTI, CHENNAI: Tamil Nadu Chief Minister M K Stalin on Saturday flayed the BJP government at the Centre on the move to hold simultaneous election, and said this was only to create a situation for the entire nation. This will pave the way for unitary rule in the country," he said.

He called upon the BJP's allies and all democratic forces to oppose the move and save the country and the Constitution.

"We should oppose one nation, one election plan of the BJP because it wants to bring one party rule in the country. The BJP government wants one religion, one language, one culture and uniform dress code, besides one cuisine. That's why it wants to thrust simultaneous polls on the nation," Stalin said addressing the third state conference of the DMK legal wing here.

The BJP wanted to destroy the states in order to establish one government at the Centre. "This is the BJP's long term plans. It wants to thrust simultaneous polls intending to create a situation for a single poll for the entire nation. This will pave the way for unitary rule in the country," he said.

To go a step further, he would say that the move would lead to conferring powers on an individual, which is not good even for the BJP party. "This amendment would be useful to make Prime Minister Narendra Modi a dictator but it does not augur well for democracy," the Chief Minister, who is DMK president, said.

Speaking at the conference DMK senior and Tamil Nadu Forests Minister K Ponnudiy said the Centre's initiative of 'one nation, one election' was 'unconstitutional' and was being brought with a political motive.

UN chief pledges
international support
as Lebanon rebuilds

PTI, BEIRUT: Antnio Guterres said the international community will back Lebanon for what we believe will be a speedy recovery of this country, making it again the centre of the Middle East.

The UN Secretary-General made his comments on Saturday following a meeting in Beirut with Lebanon's newly elected president Joseph Aoun. A new prime minister was also named to form a government following Aoun's election last week.

Lebanon had been without a president for 26 months, part of internal divisions in the small nation.

Guterres said that naming a president and prime minister makes it possible to consolidate the Lebanese institutions and to deploy the Lebanese army across the country, including areas from where Israeli troops will withdraw.

As soon as the conflict ends, reconstruction begins, Guterres said.

The US-brokered ceasefire is an attempt to end the Israel-Hezbollah war that has killed more than 4,000 people and wounded over 16,000 in Lebanon.

Part of the deal is that Hezbollah will pull out from the border area with Israel and only Lebanese troops and UN peacekeepers can have armed presence along the Israeli border.

Mounted police comb
fire-charred Los Angeles for bodies

AFP, LOS ANGELES: Sheriff's deputies on horseback fanned out through charred brush on Friday, hunting for the remains of people who perished when huge wildfires raced through Los Angeles.

At least 27 people are known to have died in the two massive blazes, with dozens still missing.

Ten days after flames erupted, frustration was growing among the tens of thousands who remain in limbo, unable to return even to homes that were spared by the flames, because of unseen dangers like toxic pollution or the risk of landslides.

Nina Madok, who lost her home in the Palisades Fire, told AFP an information meeting for evacuees had been "worthless."

"We need local leaders from the Palisades to answer our questions now."

An emotional Los Angeles Assistant Fire Chief Joe Everett told those present: "It's extremely, extremely hard for me to look you in the eye knowing that, quite honestly, I feel like I failed you in some respect."
