Sancoale locals protest against the Bhutani project

SAVORFOND, SANCOALE:

Locals from Sancoale and are seething with anger and ready to come out of their homes again as project proponents of Bhutani Infra on Wednesday brought in machinery – with police protection – for soil testing despite the matter being heard at the Goa Bench of the Bombay High Court.

"I have said it before and am repeating that we will start work only after we get permission from the High Court or the proper government authority," said Amit Taneja, CEO of Bhutani Infra.

"We asked for police protection based on the High Court direction of December 18, 2024. We brought in machinery to do soil testing to get environment clearance and not to construct," assured Taneja.

To the locals, "by getting machinery with the help of the police," is evidence that the government is against the people. "We were quiet but not asleep. If Bhutani thinks they can silence our voice with the help of the government, we will make them shudder with our collective shout," warned Sancoale panch Tulshidas Naik.

Oppn cracks show after Venzy compares Sawant to Bandodkar

Political pundits feel Opposition members, who were supposed to fight unitedly, have indulged in mud-slinging and are not in a position to create confidence in the people

PANJIM: The recent statement by Benaolim MLA Venzy Viegas comparing the present Chief Minister Pramod Sawant to Goa's first Chief Minister late Dayanand 'Bhausahab' Bandodkar has resulted in internal strife within the already crippled Opposition.

During a public function held at Colva last week, Viegas went on a praising spree of Sawant and equated him to the legendary leader late Bandodkar. The MLA went to the extent of saying that just as Bandodkar had carried out construction of government primary schools in Salcete taluka after the Opinion Poll, so too Sawant was carrying out development works in constituencies represented by Opposition MLAs.

Goaded by the success in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, the Opposition parties under the banner of India Bloc were gearing to provide a compelling alternative to the BJP. But Venzy's statement has now resulted in internal strife within the already crippled Opposition members.

O Herald spoke to politicians and pundits to know if the Opposition parties would overcome internal differences and rise to the challenge to fight the dominant BJP.

"The question is when there are so many issues of corruption plaguing the State and when the Opposition members were supposed to fight unitedly they have indulged in mud-slinging. Delhi court accepts CBI closure report

PTI, NEW DELHI: A Delhi court on Thursday accepted a closure report filed by the CBI in an alleged case of irregularities by ICICI Bank in accepting loan repayment from NDTV, saying 'it appeared to be satisfactory'.

Special Judge Shailender Malik accepted the closure report after going through the report, and the submissions made by the CBI, and the complainant in the case, who said he did not want to file any protest petition being satisfied with the investigation.

"Upon going through entire closure report, documents annexed with the same coupled with submissions made by public prosecutor for CBI as well as statement given by the complainant to the effect that he is satisfied with the investigation of CBI in the present case, this court accepts the closure report... as no criminality or violation of Section 19(2) of Banking Regulation Act, 1949 has been found by any of the accused persons. Therefore closure report appears to be satisfactory and hence it is accepted," the judge said.

The closure report was submitted last year after its six-year-long probe did not find any irregularities in the transactions between the ICICI Bank and former NDTV promoters.

Jalgaon victims had enough time to move to safer area: Railway officials

PTI, JALGAON (MAHARASHTRA): Passengers of the Pushpak Express, who got down from the train due to a fire rumour, had sufficient time to move to safer location as the Karnataka Express which mowed down 12 of them here arrived 20 minutes later, railway officials said on Thursday.

The officials in New Delhi stated that those who alighted from the train, which had stopped due to pulling of emergency chain between Maheji and Pardhade stations at 4:45 pm on Wednesday, remained on the side tracks unaware of the imminent danger.

The approaching Karnataka Express which run over 12 passengers passed by at around 5:05 pm, they said while dismissing reports that some passengers of Pushpak jumped off the train in a hurry.

The officials said the passengers who got down from Pushpak, travelling from Lucknow to Mumbai, were likely walking on the adjacent railway tracks and did not react in time upon seeing the oncoming train.

Several videos shared by passengers prior to the tragedy also suggest the same, they said.

"The initial version reported by many suggested that passengers didn't have time to move to a safe place and they had no option but to jump on the tracks. But, it is incorrect. We are investigating the cause of chain pulling," a railway official said.

Passengers who saw the Karnataka Express approaching moved out of the track.

Make your products in America or pay tariffs: Trump tells Davos

AFP, DAVOS: US President Donald Trump told world business leaders Thursday to manufacture in the United States or face tariffs, in his first major speech to global leaders since returning to the White House this week.

Since his inauguration on Monday, Trump has said that Washington could impose steep tariffs on major trading partners Canada, Mexico and China as soon as February 1.

He has also signed a flurry of executive orders, pulling the United States out of the Paris Climate Accords and the World Health Organisation.

"Come make your product in America and we will give you among the lowest taxes of any nation on earth," Trump said on Thursday, speaking remotely to the World Economic Forum in Davos, Switzerland.

"Come make your product in America and we will give you among the lowest taxes of any nation on earth. But if you don't make your product in America, which is your prerogative, then very simply you will have to pay a tariff

"I'm also going to ask Saudi Arabia and OPEC to bring down the cost of oil. If the price came down, the Russia-Ukraine war would end immediately – Donald Trump, US President

"But if you don't make your product in America, which is your prerogative, then very simply you will have to pay a tariff," he added.

In his speech, he added that he believed lower oil prices would help end the war in Ukraine instantly.

"I'm also going to ask Saudi Arabia and OPEC to bring down the cost of oil," referring to the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries.

"If the price came down, the Russia-Ukraine war would end immediately," he said.

"Right now, the price is high enough that that war will continue," he added.

Trump said he expected to have "a very good relationship" with China, but stressed that "all we want is fairness."

During his first administration, Trump engaged in an escalating tariffs war with Beijing, and he has threatened higher duties on the campaign trail as well.

In wide-ranging remarks, Trump also signaled he would exert pressure to bring interest rates lower.

"I'll demand that interest rates drop immediately," he said. "Likewise, they should be dropping all over the world. Interest rates should follow us all over."

Security measures spark protests at Ashoka varsity

PTI, NEW DELHI: Students at Ashoka University in Haryana's Sonapat are on a warpath against the administration after it clamped new security measures involving a vehicle check and prohibition on carrying cigarettes and alcohol on campus.

The new protocols, reportedly outlined in a January 13 email by the varsity's Vice President of Operations, also include shifting student movement to another gate, Gate 2, and submitting students to pocket checks.

Students have criticised the measures as invasive and an overreach of authorities, demanding a roll-back.

The Ashoka University Student Government alleged the students were informed about the decision without any prior consultation.

A petition opposing the protocols, issued hours after the announcement, has reportedly garnered over 1,100 signatures.
