

Water pipeline bursts, floods houses in Bhatlem

With no officials to handle the situation, residents suffered losses as water gushed into seven houses, destroying appliances & other items

Team Herald

PANJIM: Residents of the Smart City continue to grapple with new problems as Panjim's cup of woes keeps overflowing. On Sunday, the residents of Bhatlem and surrounding areas in the city scrambled to save their belongings after the main pipeline supplying water to Taleigao and Dona Paula burst, leaving their homes flooded and properties destroyed.

Those residing in the low-lying areas faced tremendous losses as the water gushed into their houses, kitchens destroying their home appliances and other household articles.

However, what was surprising to note was that the poor residents were battling with the rising waters as the authorities were conspicuous by their absence. They demanded compensation from the authorities for the damages.

According to the locals, the pipeline was damaged at around 10 am, which forced the water to seep into seven houses.

Farida Makandar, an affected resident, said, "I was watching TV when we saw water entering our house. We were surprised to see the water. Nobody bothered to visit us to find out what had happened. Water entered almost most of the houses in our area. We have electronic gadgets like refrigerator and television."

BICHOLIM: Objecting to the land acquisition for the proposed international law college in Mayem when the contentious issue of evacuee property is still pending, the gram sabha on Sunday unanimously resolved to oppose the project with the villagers making their stance clear that this and other development projects will not be allowed until the land issues are settled.

The villagers pledged not to part away even an inch of land if the project does not benefit them. The villagers demanded that the government should expedite the process to settle the evacuee property issue.

"Around 2.5 lakh square metres are to be acquired for the college. We suspect that some land dealings will happen because the decisions are being taken without taking locals into confidence. That is why we have passed a resolution that this project should not come up in the village"

— Santosh Kumar Sawant, Mayem villager

"People of Mayem are protesting because lakhs of square metres of land will be acquired for the project. The villagers will not allow any project to come up till they get their rights. We will not even give an inch of land on lease if we do not benefit from the project"

Trump's trade war among allies triggers retaliation from Canada, Mexico

AP, TORONTO: Canada's prime minister and Mexico's president ordered retaliatory tariffs on goods from the US, following through with their threats after US President Donald Trump sparked a trade war by imposing sweeping tariffs on imports from Canada, Mexico and China.

Canada had been proactively saying for months that it would respond to any tariffs on Washington's North American allies, while Mexico followed a more cautious approach. But in the end both nations did what they had anticipated: retaliate.

Prime Minister Justin Trudeau and Mexican President Claudia Sheinbaum spoke by phone Saturday after Trump's administration imposed sweeping tariffs — 25 per cent on goods from Canada and Mexico, and 10 per cent on imports from China — although there is still no indication the two countries are coordinating responses or will do concerted actions in coming days.

AMERICANS COULD FEEL 'SOME PAIN', SAYS US PRESIDENT

AP, PALM BEACH: President Donald Trump said Sunday that Americans could feel "some pain" from the emerging trade war triggered by his tariffs against Canada, Mexico and China, and claimed that Canada would "cease to exist" without its trade surplus with the United States.

The trade penalties that Trump signed Saturday at his Florida resort caused a mix of panic, anger and uncertainty, and threatened to rupture a decades-old partnership on trade in North America while further straining relations with China. But by following through on a campaign pledge, Trump may have simultaneously broken his promise to voters in last year's election that his administration could quickly reduce inflation.

"WILL THERE BE SOME PAIN? YES, MAYBE (AND MAYBE NOT!)," Trump said in a social media post. "BUT WE WILL MAKE AMERICA GREAT AGAIN, AND IT WILL ALL BE WORTH THE PRICE THAT MUST BE PAID."
