PTI, TEHRAN: Iran test-fired an anti-warship cruise missile with a range of 1,000 kilometres capable of reaching US Navy ships in the Persian Gulf and Sea of Oman, state TV reported on Saturday.

This is a Ghadr-380 mile type L. It has over 1,000 kilometres range. It has anti-jamming capability, said Gen. Ali Reza Tangsiri, the head of the navy of the Revolutionary Guard, in a report that showed an underground missile facility on the southern coast of Iran.

The report elaborated neither on warhead that the missile carried, nor the time of the test.

Tangsiri said the facility is only one part of the missile systems of the Guard, adding that the missiles can create a hell for the enemy's warships.

The report said the new weapon was a sophisticated missile, without elaborating, which could be launched from the under-

A test launch during the unveiling of the Ghadr-380 naval cruise missile in an undisclosed location in Iran. The naval arm of the IRGC unveiled a new underground missile facility on the south coast in footage aired by state television on February 1, two weeks after unveiling an underground naval base ground facility. The missile was launched from central Iran into the Sea of Oman, it said.

It said the missile can be made ready and launched by one member of personnel in less than five minutes.

Since 2011 Iran has occasionally announced the inauguration of underground missile facilities along with missile tests. It has boasted of underground facilities across the country as well as along the southern coast near the strategic Strait of Hormuz.

Iran claims to have missiles that can travel 2,000 kilometres, placing much of the Middle East, including Israel, within range.

In 2024 and during Israel's war with Hamas in Gaza and Hezbollah in Lebanon, Iran launched hundreds of missiles at Israel in two separate barrages in April and October. Israel said it intercepted most of the missiles.

The US and its Western allies see Iran's missile program as a threat, along with the country's nuclear program.

US military conducts airstrikes against Islamic State operatives in Somalia

AP, WASHINGTON: The US military has conducted coordinated airstrikes against Islamic State operatives in Somalia, the first attacks in the African nation during President Donald Trump's second term.

Defence Secretary Pete Hegseth said Saturday that the strikes by US Africa Command were directed by Trump and coordinated with Somalia's government.

An initial assessment by the Pentagon indicated that "multiple" operatives were killed. The Pentagon said it assessed that no civilians were harmed in the strikes.

Trump, in a post on social media, said a senior IS planner and recruits were targeted in the operation.

"The strikes destroyed the caves they live in, and killed many terrorists without, in any way, harming civilians. Our Military has targeted this ISIS Attack Planner for years, but Biden and his cronies wouldn't act quickly enough to get the job done. I did!" Trump said. "The message to ISIS and all others who would attack Americans is that 'WE WILL FIND YOU, AND WE WILL KILL YOU!'"

Trump did not identify the IS planner or say whether that person was killed in the strike. White House officials did not immediately respond to requests for comment.

Indian Embassy in Congo asks nationals to depart immediately to safer locations

PTI, JOHANNESBURG: The Embassy of India in Kinshasa, Democratic Republic of Congo, on Sunday said it is closely monitoring the security situation in the central African country and asked all the Indian nationals in Bukavu "to immediately depart to safer locations."

The Embassy issued three advisories during the day and recommended that everyone prepare an emergency plan. There are about 1,000 Indian nationals in Congo. Rwanda-backed M23 rebels captured the eastern Congolese city of Goma and are looking at expanding their area of control.

"There are reports of M23 being only around 20-25 kms away from Bukavu. Given the security situation, we once again advise all Indian nationals residing in Bukavu to immediately depart to safer locations by whatever means available while the airports, borders and commercial routes are still open. We strongly recommend against any travel to Bukavu," the advisory said.

In the latest advisory, the Embassy recommended that everyone prepare an emergency plan and gave instructions to keep, at all times, all essential identity and travel documents with them; keep essential items such as medicines, clothing, travel documents, ready-to-eat food, water, etc. in a bag that can be carried easily, and monitor local media channels for updates.

The Indian Embassy also said that it is collating information on Indian nationals in Bukavu and asked them to urgently send relevant information such as full name, passport number, addresses in Congo and India, contact number among other details.

Ceiling collapse at abandoned home kills three in Kosovo

AFP, PRISTINA: A collapsed ceiling in an abandoned home in southwestern Kosovo killed three minors, police said on Sunday, as authorities launched an investigation into the cause of the incident.

According to law enforcement, the incident occurred in the village of Jablanica on Saturday when part of the structure's ceiling collapsed with three teenagers inside.

Local police spokesman Sheremet Elezaj said an emergency services team was sent to the location "immediately after learning about the incident".

The "team only confirmed their deaths at the scene", Elezaj added.

Kosovo prosecutors said in a statement that "all investigative actions are being taken" and noted that the bodies had been sent for autopsies.

Perparim Ademaj, a resident who joined the search for the victims, told local media that the bodies had been discovered lying under the collapsed ceiling.

Local media reported that the house had been uninhabited for decades and that the victims were aged between 14 to 15 years old.
