Assn alleges 300 illegal liquor traders operating along coastline

BJP leader involved in illegal liquor import, alleges AAP

Team Herald

PANJIM: The All Goa Liquor Traders Association (AGLTA) on Tuesday alleged that around 300 illegal liquor traders are operating along Goa's coastline and demanded strict action against them.

Speaking to reporters, AGLTA president Dattaprasad Naik said, "We have been observing for the last five six years that because of rates being less in Haryana, a huge quantity of stocks is coming to Goa. This is happening because many people from Haryana have taken liquor shops on lease in Goa and are selling liquor brought from their State. - Dattaprasad Naik, All Goa Liquor Traders Association president

“This smuggling of liquor from Haryana to Goa and the illegal export of liquor out of Goa has led to a massive revenue loss for the State, running into crores of rupees. There were attempts to release the truck but failed. On the contrary, the excise inspector Dev Raut, who intercepted the truck, was transferred. Instead of receiving accolades he was transferred”

casions, but no action has been taken.”

The association demanded proper inquiry into seizing of liquor reportedly worth over Rs 2 crore at Patradevi checkpoint.

“We demand that a proper investigation be conducted and the main person/s who brought the huge consignment of liquor be arrested. We will come out with a detailed list of those dealers who are not from the State and bringing consignments from other States in Goa for the purpose of selling them. I warn them not to indulge in selling liquor illegally. We want a clean liquor industry in the State,” he said.

Meanwhile, the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP), State president Adv Amit Palekar on Tuesday alleged that a ruling party functionary was involved in the illegal import of liquor from Haryana and the illicit smuggling of liquor out of the coastal State.

Speaking to media persons at the party office, AAP State President Adv Amit Palekar raised serious concerns over the ongoing illegal activities related to the liquor trade. He alleged that while Goa's liquor is being illegally exported to other States, liquor from Haryana is being smuggled into Goa, bypassing State regulations.

“This smuggling of liquor from Haryana to Goa and the illegal export of liquor out of Goa has led to a massive revenue loss for the State, running into crores of rupees,” he alleged.

“A few days back, a truck involved in the illegal transportation of liquor was intercepted. Excise inspector Dev Raut, who intercepted the truck, instead of receiving accolades was transferred,” alleged Adv Palekar.

“The truck laden with liquor bottles crossed Haryana, Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh and Maharashtra borders and reached Goa. Somebody connected to the BJP is involved in it. Why can't the Enforcement Directorate investigate this excise scam which is much larger than what it seems,” he said.

Adv Palekar has called on Chief Minister Pramod Sawant to launch an immediate investigation into the alleged excise scam involving the illegal import of liquor from Haryana and the illicit smuggling of liquor out of the coastal State and causing revenue losses by evading duty.

State has enough water for two months: Minister

Officials at Opa assure there will be no disruptions with regards to the drinking water supply to Ponda and Panjim

PONDA: Stating that Goa's rivers and dams currently hold sufficient drinking water reserves, WRD Minister Subhash Shirodkar said the present water storage capacity can comfortably meet the State's needs for the next 1.5 to 2 months.

He said “This buffer extends beyond the anticipated arrival of the monsoon in June, ensuring no water shortage even in the absence of immediate rainfall.”

Shirodkar reassured citizens that there is ‘no need to worry’.

The minister highlighted the presence of approximately 374 traditional water harvesting structures (bandharas) along Goa's rivers, with plans to increase this number to 500.

Addressing the recent crocodile attack at Saton-Dabal, he said, “The government is taking proactive steps to ensure public safety for those who rely on rivers for their daily needs. Plans are underway to construct designated washing platforms at a safe distance from the riverbanks in areas like Ambe Dulai and Shignawal. These platforms will also be equipped with water access for pumping and bathing.”

to the drinking water supply to Ponda and Panjim this summer season, as Dudhsagar river and other sources, currently have a good volume of water.

Notably, all but one of the 24 bandharas on the Dudhsagar river are at full capacity. The recent release of water from the Ambe Dulai bandhara has further replenished the Opa barrage. While the minimum water level required for smooth pumping is 3.5 metres, authorities are confident they can easily maintain levels above this threshold thanks to the various available water sources that help rejuvenate the Opa River.

Adding to this positive outlook, Sunil Kerkar, an Assistant Engineer at the Opa Water Works, reported that the water level at the Opa barrage on the Khandepar River is currently at 3.72 metres, which is higher than the 3 metres recorded on the same day last year.

Officials also highlighted that the Water Resources Department (WRD) maintains 24 bandharas on the Khandepar, Kalay, and Udnai rivers, collectively capable of storing 35.3 lakh cubic metres of water, most of which are yet to be utilised. Furthermore, the Opa Water Works receives 48 (MLD) per day from the Selaulim Dam, and an additional 70 MLD is supplied to the Khandepar River via the Ganjem Water Scheme. As a contingency, the WRD has pumps ready to draw up to 30 MLD of water daily from mine pits in Dharbandora, which can then be channelled into the Khandepar River to further rejuvenate the Opa River and support its five water treatment plants.

These treatment plants, with capacities of 8 MLD, 12 MLD, 54 MLD, 40 MLD, and 27 MLD, collectively supply 152 MLD of water to the Ponda and Tiswadi talukas.

The officials also noted that the extended monsoon last year played a crucial role in replenishing the dams across Goa. The monsoon season concluded around October 15 last year, and the subsequent heavy rain showers further contributed to ensuring sufficient water storage in the dams.

Camorlim panchayat to monitor migrants

Team Herald

MARGAO: At its gram sabha held on Sunday, the Camorlim Panchayat passed a resolution to implement strict monitoring of migrants residing in the village.

The meeting, chaired by Acting Sarpanch and Deputy Sarpanch Reena Dias, also addressed growing concerns over pollution of the local spring and traffic obstructions caused by roadside tree planting.

Speaking to reporters after the meeting, Acting Sarpanch Reena Dias said the villagers had expressed serious concern over the increasing number of migrants in Camorlim. “What we found out is that there are lots of migrants in the village, and villagers fear it could lead to several problems in the near future. We will be holding a meeting with landlords renting out rooms to ensure proper checks are carried out,” Dias said.

In addition to the migrant monitoring issue, villagers raised alarm over the pollution of the local spring, a vital water source for the community. Dias informed that the panchayat will write to the concerned departments seeking immediate intervention. “There is fear of spring pollution, and we will be urging authorities to find a solution. I also appeal to the public to maintain cleanliness during the spring, which is an important part of our environment and biodiversity,” she added.
