

Students visit Aguad port and jail complex on Goa Revolution Day

On Goa Revolution Day, 188 school students from across the state visited the Aguad Port and Jail Complex in Sinquerim, getting a first-hand look at a slice of the state's history. In all, 43 students accompanied by two teachers from Dr K B Hedgewar High School in Bambolim, 122 students and 10 teachers from Hedgewar Primary and High School in Assonora and 23 students, one tour guide and 10 teachers and parents from Vidya Prabodhini Primary School in Alto Porvorim, visited the Aguad Port and Jail Complex on the occasion of the historic day. The students engaged with Goa's history through the interactive museum's touch screens, informative displays and immersive installations. They had the opportunity to walk through the historic jail cells that once held Goa's freedom fighters. In the Core Block of the complex, the students solemnly observed the engraved names of those freedom fighters who had been imprisoned at the jail during the state's liberation movement, a reminder of their sacrifices.

The embrace of a bleeding heart

Sr Molly Fernandes

Devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus, isn't just some old tradition, is it? It's about a heart that truly beats, for every single person. A heart that bled, literally, till the very last drop, when that soldier's lance pierced His side, Jn. 19:34. Just imagine that - a heart so full of love, it emptied itself for us. Though every family have a portrait or statue of the Most Sacred Heart of Jesus on the altar, yet, one behaves as inhumane and ungrateful wandering off into their own little worlds, hurting Him over and over again through others. One forget, doubt, deny, and even take revenge. But the mystery, that most compassionate Heart of Jesus, doesn't just judge nor condemn. It just embraces even when one least deserves it.

The Bible paints a vivid picture of this profound compassion. Time and again, one reads how Jesus was "moved with compassion" (Mt. 9:36, Mk. 6:34). When He saw the crowds, He saw them as "like sheep without a shepherd" - lost, vulnerable, needing guidance. This wasn't a detached observation; it was a deep, internal ache for their suffering.

His compassion was intensely personal too. When He drew near and saw the city of Jerusalem, he wept over it (Lk. 19:41-44), grieving for those who would not recognise the path to peace. And at the tomb of Lazarus, as He witnessed the grief of Martha and Mary, "Jesus wept" (Jn. 11:35). These are lead-ins into the very soul of God, revealing a merciful, compassionate, and empathetic person. This is the heart that beats for humanity - a heart that truly feels for you and for me.

Gospel of St Matthew further highlights Jesus' concern for the vulnerable with those tender words, "Come to me, all you who are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest" (Mt 11:28). This is an open call to everyone struggling, feeling lost, burdened by life's hardships but aren't to the perfect. It's an invitation directly from that Sacred Heart, yearning to offer solace and peace.

This is the beauty of the Sacred Heart of Jesus. It's not a heart that waits for us to be perfect. It's a heart that continually beats, aches, and reaches out, even when one is ungrateful, even when one has hurt Him. It tells that no matter how far one has strayed or messed up, that divine, compassionate heart is always open, ready to embrace, to heal, with the warmth of His love whispering, "Come, come back home". And in that whisper, in that gentle invitation, lies the true power and the profound comfort of the Sacred Heart of Jesus. An ultimate example of undeserved, boundless mercy that never gives up. On this feast day, may Jesus to make one's hearts like His merciful, compassionate, forgiving and ever embracing.
