

TCP ACT: HC STRIKES DOWN CONTROVERSIAL SECTION

Petitioners hail order, TCP Minister says govt will move SC against it

PANJIM: In a significant victory for public-spirited citizens who have opposed the spot zoning and changes to the Regional Plan 2021, the High Court of Bombay at Goa on Thursday struck down the rules and the guidelines that enable the operation of Section 17 (2) of the Town and Country Planning (TCP) Act, prompting the Town and Country Planning (TCP) Minister Vishwajit Rane to disclose that the government will approach the Supreme Court against the order.

Speaking to mediapersons at his Miramar residence, Rane said, "Senior advocate Mukul Rohatgi will represent the State in the case. There were several errors in the Regional Plan 2021. Section 17(2) was brought in to give people a chance to correct these errors. We have been given six weeks time to approach the Supreme Court."

"I respect the judiciary. Implementing suggestions given by the judges regarding operationalisation and interpretation is not a problem," he said.

"This is a good victory for people, because, we were opposed to the zoning which was being changed spot by spot in different places changing the entire context of the landscape of Goa and literally casting aside the Regional Plan 2021, which is still valid and holds good for people of Goa, protecting Goa's ecology and environment while also allowing for development in certain areas – Norma Alvares, senior advocate & petitioners counsel

"Senior advocate Mukul Rohatgi will represent the State in the case. There were several errors in the Regional Plan 2021. Section 17(2) was brought in to give people a chance to correct these errors. We have been given six weeks time to approach the Supreme Court – Vishwajit Rane, TCP Minister

"The High Court has given relief which it normally does when there is a constitutional matter. The government which is supposed to protect the eco-zones has become an enemy of it. So citizens of the State had no recourse but to approach the High Court – Dr Claude Alvares, Director of Goa Foundation

"The High Court bench understood the gravity of destruction Goa is subjected to and put a halt to some extent. There are many more violations that are currently in court and we are hopeful justice will be done. The government should not waste public money by going to Supreme Court – Sabina Martins, Goa Bachao Abhiyan co-convenor

PANJIM: In its affidavit filed before the High Court of Bombay at Goa, Parmesh Construction Company Limited or Bhutani Infra stated that it is in the process of applying for fresh environmental clearance (EC) for its proposed multi-family dwellings and villas at Savorfond, Sancoale, which is vehemently opposed by the villagers.

The company filed its affidavit to the writ petition by Peter D'Souza and four others.

Representing the petitioners, Adv Richard Almeida said, "They (Bhutani Infra) have said that they have stopped the work and applied for

"They (Bhutani Infra) have said that they have appointed an agency to apply for the environmental clearance. They have said that they could not apply for EC due to factors such as excessive rainfall. The company has so far obtained development permission and construction licence. They do not have fresh environmental clearance environmental clearance. They have submitted that they will not start work until and unless they get environmental clearance. They have said that they have appointed an agency to apply for the environmental clearance. They have said that they could not apply for EC due to factors such as excessive rainfall. The company has so far obtained development permission and construction licence. They do not have fresh environmental clearance."

Adv Almeida said that he had questioned the validity of the old environmental clearance and the company has stated that they have engaged an agency to do soil testing. The petitioners also challenged the development permission which the Bhutani Infra has obtained. The National Green Tribunal (NGT) NGT had passed an order in September last year but in three months the company was given the conversion sanad and the petitioners sought to know how they could do it. The petitioners have challenged conversion sanad.

The Bhutani Infra was granted development permission by the MPDA on February 2, 2024, while the Sancoale Village Panchayat issued a construction licence on March 11 last year.

TN MOVE SIGNALS A DANGEROUS MINDSET: FINANCE MINISTER

PTI, NEW DELHI: DMK-led Tamil Nadu government move to replace the rupee symbol signals a dangerous mindset that weakens Indian unity and promotes secessionist sentiments under the pretence of regional pride, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman said on Thursday. Launching a scathing attack on DMK, she said the party should have protested when the rupee symbol was adopted by the UPA in 2010.

Sunita Williams' return delayed yet again

AGENCIES, WASHINGTON: The return of Starliner astronauts Sunita Williams and Butch Wilmore has been further delayed as NASA and SpaceX postponed Crew-10 launch.

Crew-10 is supposed to replace the Crew-9 team which Sunita Williams is part of. Crew-9 cannot return from space unless Crew 10 reaches the ISS and take over the mission.

Williams and Wilmore were 'stuck' onboard the International Space Station (ISS) following technical issues.

Navy seeks fresh NOC to keep flyover within prescribed height limits

Flag Officer Goa Area's request to NHAI could provide relief to South Goa residents, dependent on Dabolim Airport for survival

AUGUSTO RODRIGUES

DABOLIM, VASCO: The Indian Navy has sought a fresh No Objection Certificate (NOC) from the National Highway Authority of India (NHAI) to keep the height of the flyover within limits prescribed by the International Civil Aviation Organisation (ICAO).

According to naval sources, the Flag Officer Goa Area (FOGA) has written to the NHAI requesting the above proposal, which could provide the much-needed

ed relief to lakhs of people from South Goa, who are dependent on the Dabolim airport for their survival.

"The NHAI has been intimated that they cannot go ahead with the present height as they are against ICAO parameters. They have been asked to re-apply again with changes

– Senior naval officer on condition of anonymity

The Bombay High Court at Goa in its order dated February 24, 2025, on a Public Interest Litigation by Atul Pant, a retired Commander of Indian Navy stated: "We have no doubt that the Navy will expedite the consideration of issuance of a No Objection Certificate (NOC) if not already decided. If the decision is already taken by the Navy, the decision to be communicated forthwith and if the said decision is not taken, the same be taken in accordance with law within a period of two weeks and if necessary by giving an opportunity of a
